Carnival Queen Crowned At Mardi Gras

LAC LA BICHE — Miss Victoria Warrawa, candidate for the WI, was crowned Queen of the Mardi Gras Carniva by Mr. F. W. McMillan, principal of the school on Friday, February 13, at 11:25 p.m. in the Memorial Hall. Miss Louise Tremblay came second, representing the Students' Union. Miss Natalka Tkachuk came third, representing the Greek Orthodox Church. The girls wore formal gowns, the Queen pink taffeta; Miss Louise wore pea green net over taffeta with bodice of chantilly lace. Miss Tkachuk's gown was net over mauve taffeta skirt with a white lace bodice. Page boy was Donnie Dobson.

The Queen was presented with a wallet with a compact. The other two girls were presented with compacts.

A most enjoyable evening was spent dancing to the music supplied by the Rocky Ramblers.

The proceeds will go to the Students' Union to aid them to take a trip to the mountains this coming summer.

Mr. Harry Lobay won the door prize which was a bronze horse.

Fire Engine Brings Needed Help To Lac la Biche Brigade

Pictured at Edmonton, en route to Lac la Biche is a much-needed fire engine. Purchased from the La France firm, this new engine is equipped to handle all types of fires.

LAC LA BICHE ADDS NEW PUMPER TO FIRE FIGHTING EQUIPMENT

Finalizing the action begun with the December Council Meeting when fire engines were discussed, the town of Lac la Biche has purchased a new La France fire engine.

At the December meeting fire engines were discusssed, and the Secretary was asked to invite bids from the various companies.

This fine piece of machinery has high pressure equipment with a booster tank and attachments for the new hydrants of the water system; it has the usual ladder and hose accessories and nozzles for straight stream and for creating the high pressure fog needed in big smoke fires inside buildings.

The town has many fire hazards and there is the constant danger of the effects of fires upon personal property and also on the general assessment of the town. Fire fighting equipment has become a necessity for both individual ownership and also for town.

Insurance rates are up to $3.20 per thousand and this very high rate may be reduced as fire fighting equipment along with the waterworks becomes a reality. The $10,800 spent on the engine will soon be saved in insurance paid in the town alone.

But reduction of insurance and protection of property depend on handling of equipment and for this reason a trained fire brigade is necessary; in conjunction with civil defense work in the town there is a fairly large group of men that have formed a voluntary fire brigade and are giving time to training one night a week. Their services and efforts are to be appreciated and it is hoped that the fire brigade will get good support from the public in their efforts which will be the final means of saving the public much expense from high insurance and fire losses.

Lac la Biche is feeling fortunate in having its water and sewer services, its fire engine, and its faith in the possibilities of future development.

FREEDOM — A farewell party was held in the Freedom Hall on Sunday, February 8 for Donald Donnelly who joined the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. All his relatives and friends are sorry to see Don leave the community, for he was not only liked by all, but is a good sportsman (baseball being his favorite). In 1947 Don moved to Freedom with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Donnelly and two sisters, Mrs. Joe Smith and Mrs. Aino Carlson.

He has played with the Freedom ball teams since then except in 1951 when he played with Westlock. Don also was manager of the Freedom baseball team in 1952.

He will also be missed as fiddler and guitar player in the local orchestra.

Don enlisted for services in the north, and he left Edmonton Monday night for Regina, Sask. where he will begin his training. His friends are all looking forward to seeing him on his first visit home.

Bowling Race Is Nip And Tuck

LAC LA BICHE — Twenty games have now been completed in the Mens' Bowling League and we witness the same three top teams still jockeying for the lead. The main encounter on Thursday, Feb. 12, resulted in a split decision between the Boarders nad the Cleaners. The former having taken a two-point edge the previous week by virtue of a double triumph. But third-place Hayward Lumber took a double-header last night. Result: Boarders Ltd., 30; Cleaners, 28, and Hayward Lumber, 26.

We also note that individual averages are declining. Is it possible the "real" bowlers show up come play-off time?

Lac la Biche Mission News Briefs

Nearly 700 CPR agents in the Canadian West provide reports which make up the railway's highly informative weekly crop report.

To Petition Gov't. To Increase Ph. Service

LAC LA BICHE — Efforts are again being made to present to the Alberta Government Telephones the need for 24-hour service in Lac la Biche. The general expansion of interests, needs for outside calls, medical and taxi service, all contribute to the concern of the public for this service. Many residents would likely have phones installed if there were an evening service; taxi business could thrive more easily and afford a service if telephone service continued even to midnight. General concern regarding fire dangers in the town augment the need for extended hours of telephone service. There are nearly a hundred subscribers in the town with many business connections that means a lot of revenue accruing from long distance calls as well.

People using the phone and needing it are seriously concerned about the possibility of its extension of service and it is trusted that the present representations made to the proper persons will have the desired effect.

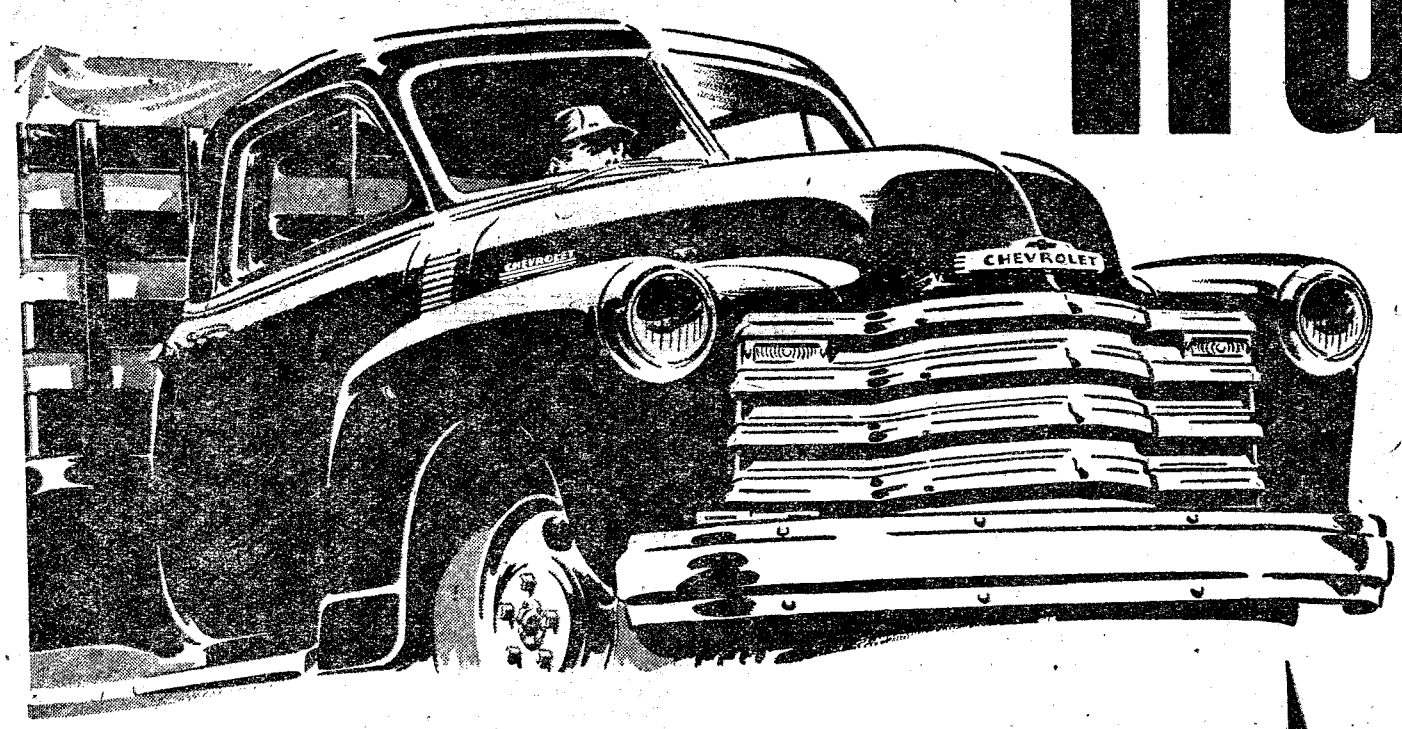
1953 Chevrolet

better than ever

Advance-Design Trucks



For 1953, Chevrolet trucks offer new performance, new stamina, new safety and economy — and every model is even stronger, sturdier, more durable than those of past years!

The advanced Loadmaster, Torquemaster and Workmaster engines in all models deliver more power than has ever before been available in Chevrolet trucks. This big, husky, valve-in-head engine with a new high-compression ratio brings you finer performance, faster acceleration, greater hill-climbing ability and substantially greater gasoline mileage.

But, that's only the beginning. You get all the proved features and advantages that have made Chevrolet trucks world-famous for their ability to handle the roughest jobs day after day at the lowest over-all cost to you!

Yet, even with all these greater advantages, 1953 Chevrolet trucks give you more for your money than any other trucks of comparable capacity and specifications. Drop in at our showroom and talk over your trucking needs. Let us show you how much more you get for your money with 1953 Chevrolet trucks.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

CHEVROLET

4 powerful reasons why they are better than ever more — engine power!

You get all the power you need with outstanding valve-in-head economy from Chevrolet's great new engines for 1953 — the 108 h.p. Loadmaster, the 125 h.p. Torquemaster and the big 130 h.p. Workmaster — all with new high compression ratios.

more — staying power!

Now, heavier, stronger, more durable frames increase rigidity, add to ruggedness and stamina of all 1953 Chevrolet trucks. Long famous for their ability to take the roughest jobs day after day. Chevrolet trucks are now brawnier and sturdier than ever.

more — braking power!

In 1953, all Chevrolet trucks up to 1400 Series models are equipped both front and rear with big, powerful "Torque-Action" brakes which make full use of truck momentum for greater stopping power. Series 1100, 1500, 1700 and 1800 heavy-duty trucks use extra-large "Torque-Action" brakes in front, "Twin-Action" type in rear. Both assure quick, smooth, safe stops — provide greater stopping power, greater durability than before.

more — economy!

The new and greater stamina of 1953 Chevrolet trucks, plus extra gasoline economy with improved valve-in-head engines, reduces hauling costs per ton-mile, brings you greater over-all economy throughout the long life of your trucks.

Income Taxes in Britain

Here's something for Canadian taxpayers to ponder over as they settle down to figure how much tax they have to pay on last year's income. And the date is nearer than you think!

The Inland Revenue Commission in Great Britain recently reported that only sixty persons in England had net incomes of more than $16,800, after paying income taxes last year. The report showed that many Englishmen earned more than this, though taxes took practically all of their income above a certain level.

It is interesting to note that the sixty who earned more than $16,800, earned a total of $27,720,000. After the income taxes were paid on this amount, it was reduced to something over $1,000,000. Some of the big money-earners paid at a rate of $2.75 taxes out of every $2.80 earned. Thus out of almost $3.00, they were allowed a nickel profit.

Here in Canada we do not take the attitude that big incomes are necessarily evil, if a fair rate of tax assessment has been paid. But in Britain large incomes are just about impossible, and the end result is that gradually all the common people will be reduced to the same low standard of living. It is different, however, for members of the Royal family and relatives who continue to live in tax-free splendor.

Something like a Britisher's lenient view of Royalty has been taken of our Governor-General who receives nearly $150,000 per year, most of it tax-free. But this relatively small sum is but a mere fraction of what it would cost to maintain a King or Queen in Ottawa, on British standards.

Red Outpost on the Moon?

Things must be even tougher in Soviet Russia than many of us have suspected. As the latest means of taking the Russians' minds off their present miseries, their Red slavemasters are telling them that Russian space ships will plant the red flag on the moon within the next 50 years.

Along with this promise go other predictions about Russian-made satellites between the earth and the moon, with Soviet scientists studying the universe from these space stations and keeping sharp eyes on everything that cooks down here.

Even so, all this is not a mere pipe dream. According to numerous scientists, the space station project is entirely feasible. Once a space station was set up, something over 1,000 miles off the earth, and moving around us like a miniature moon, it could be used as a take-off point for space ships zeroed in on the original moon.

After the moon was explored, and perhaps equipped with one or more settlements generating their own atmosphere under plastic shells, journeys to other planets would be possible. Or so a lot of respected present-day scientists insist.

Dr. Wernher von Braun, noted German rocket expert who worked on the V-2 missile in World War II and now works in this country, says the first space station would cost around $4,000,000,000 and some 10 years of preparation and labor. Any time he can get the four billion bucks, we gather, he's willing to proceed.

The nation that first installs a space station as an artificial earth satellite will have many advantages in addition to scientific prestige. There are military men who think such a space outpost could be used practically to rule the world, as a platform from which atomic or hydrogen missiles could be whacked into any desired point on earth, with no defense possible.

Maybe so; maybe not. But interplanetary travel is at least not the Jules Verne or H. G. Wells fantasy that it was 50 years ago. We'd better encourage research on this fascinating subject in every way we can. It may just conceivably be the richest single field of scientific exploration now opening to mankind.

Discretion shall preserve thee, understanding shall keep thee.—Proverbs, II; 11.

Of Many Things

By AMBROSE HILLS

My son, Bill, has reached the awkward age—the age when he knows more than I do about a lot of things; including how to run the country, abolish slums, stop wars, and all the rest of it. I should have known that the awkward age had come upon him when I noticed the following symptoms:

He thinks millionaires are crooks—but he firmly intends to be a millionaire when he grows up.

He detests slums -- but he and his pals make a slum out of our front yard by dumping their belongings helter-skelter all over the place. He will trip over his sister's tricycle a dozen times before he'll put it away. He will toss gum wrappers, chocolate bar wrappers and other assorted scraps of paper right on the front walk for his mother to sweep up.

Somewhere he has picked up the notion that wars are started by the munitions makers for profit; but I looked out the window the other day to see him give the Bronx raspberry to the neighbor's boy, and offer to punch his nose.

The share-and-share-alike idea has taken hold of his imagination, but in a very broad way. It does not include sharing his dibs, or parting with half his chocolate bars or chewing gum.

He has heard enough to make him pretty disgusted with our way of life—he's sold instead on a planned economy. He doesn't know what it means but he is sure that it would stop waste and increase efficiency.

They talk a lot about it at school, it seems, and take a pretty dim view of corporations and cartels and monopolies and the like. Bill thinks it is high time that the government took over everything and stopped all the silly advertising and made things really hum. "Just think, Dad," he says "how cheap they could sell shoes if there was only one brand and they didn't have to be advertised!"

So I asked him, "What kind of a chocolate bar would you like me to get you? I'm going down to the store."

Without hesitation he named his favorite brand; and added, without a blush, "and could you fetch me some comics? Any kind—if I have them already I'll use them for traders."

It is kind of nice to have a son at the awkward age, though. At least he's only starting in where some so-called adults left off. He'll grow out of it; they grew into it. Give Bill a few more years to joyfully fix the world with words. All too soon he'll find that it won't work. Let him have his fling now. One day, no doubt, he'll be in the same spot as I am now — trying to explain things to a son at the awkward age. That will put him in his place.

New Synthetic Rubber

An official of one of the major tire and rubber companies said recently a new type of synthetic rubber, which would outwear both natural rubber and other synthetics by many years, would probably be developed in the near future. "There is every reason to believe these problems can be brought to a practical solution," P. W. Litchfield predicted, in speaking of the problems yet to be solved before manufacture of the new synthetic rubber.

The new rubber surpasses present types in toughness and resistance to abrasion and is expected to outwear an automobile when used on automobile tire treads. It is said to be similar to the German synthetic rubber, Vulcollan.

Problems which are said to stand in the way of production of the new synthetic rubber are said to be the finding of a cheaper way to produce the raw material needed, improved processing, and further improvement in resilience and adhesive qualities. It is obvious that the new synthetic rubber will be of major importance to the country in a national emergency, in addition to being an aid to the traveling salesman, or other driving citizen, who must buy a new set of tires for his automobile every year.

DON'T KNOCK—CO-OPERATE.

A group of uneasy country folk have been heard running down the committee leaders of their local Amusement Club. The conversation sounded somewhat like this:

"I wish we had more entertainment. I get so bored staying at home. We have to go miles to see a movie and one gets tired of that. Why can't we organize some sports or a dramatic club or some activities other communities have? Even the church operates at a loss. Wouldn't an amateur hour once a month be different. Can't we have more dances?

Now! What is wrong with the people? Likely it's lack of co-operation, perhaps management. Why can't folks organize sewing groups, children's amateur clubs, an evening dramatic club, softball team, fashion shows, masquerades, novelty dances, treasure hunts, sleighing parties, wiener roasts, Sunday School and even bachelor "What's Your Beef" clubs?

Come on, ladies' and gents. How about it? Can't you put a little spice into the modern humdrum?

District Pastor Replies To City Minister On Merits Of New Revised Bible Version

LAMONT — In a letter addressed to the editor of the Lamont Journal. Rev. Ernest Nix has replied to Rev. G. Hutchison, of 11526 88 Street on the subject of the new revised version of the Bible. Mr. Nix writes as follows:

I rather hesitate to so much as reply since controversy, when misunderstood, may seem like mere petty bickering. The man in the street is apt to say, "As long as the churches and men of religion can't agree among themselves why should I listen to any of them?" Nevertheless, your correspondent needs to be set right about a few simple facts.

Although he states that he had two copies of the King James Version "conformable to the issue of 1611" open before him, there is nothing in his letter to indicate that he has ever examined, much less read, a copy of the new "Revised Standard Version" which he so much detests. May I suggest that in all fairness he should obtain one and critically compare it with the King James Version? It is hardly fair to condemn merely by hearsay; such testimony would not be accepted even by a court of law. He might find himself agreeably surprised by the new version.

The chief reason why a new translation was necessary at this time was simply that there was no good translation of God's Word available to the people in the language we speak today. Nobody today disputes the place that the King James translation holds and has held through the past 341 years. Its words and phrases are indelibly inscribed in our language and literature, both sacred and secular. No one can claim to be educated in any sense of the word who does not know this most influential, most important book in the English language. But the question is, can the common man today easily read and understand it? Because the King James translation was itself based on older versions (such as Tyndale's) which went before it, a greater knowledge of English is needed to read it correctly than is needed to read, shall we say, the plays of Shakespeare, which were written at the same time. Words change their meaning, others grow obsolete with the passing of time. "Conversation" once meant "conduct,' and "charity" was once a simple word for Christian love. There are approximately 300 similar instances of Elizabethan words appearing in the K.J. version which are now confusing to the average reader. A few changes also appear because translators working today have many more ancient manuscripts available to them, than had the King James translators working nearly 350 years ago. However, the amazing thing to me is, that all in all, the new Version has remarkably few changes in it. The King James Version has been followed in its matchless beauty, except where it was found to be wrong.

Mr. Hutchinson refers to the celebrated passage in Isaiah 7:14, where the new Version reads "a young woman" instead of "a virgin" as in the King James. Does he know that "virgin" is also plainly printed in a foot-note as an equally acceptable reading? The Hebrew word translated here is "almah," which may be rendered either way. The question was, which translation was nearer the original Hebrew? Apparently there was little choice; either means "pure, chaste." If he will further examine St. Matthew 1:23 and Luke 1:27, he will find the familiar "virgin' in both cases; no doubt exists that that is the correct translation of the Greek "parthenos" which occurs here. In other words, the translators of today are not engaged in a dire plot to put across their own "private interpretation" or any particular "modernist' or fundamentalist" view; their job has been simply to produce, in the language we speak today, a fair, plain, accurate, and if possible graceful translation of what the original writers wrote in Greek or Hebrew, I say they have succeeded magnificently. There has been no attempt made whatever to interfere with anyone's belief in the doctrine of the Virgin Birth or any other doctrine.

Mr. Hutchinson would find the translators' Preface to the Revised Standard Version interesting and instructive. It sets out what they have been attempting to do. Far from being a "new Bible," listen to what Dean Weigle (Dean emeritus of Yale University School of Divinity, and chairman of the revision committee) has to say: "We haven't been changing the Bible. With the aid of the oldest manuscripts yet known and with the new knowledge of Greek and Hebrew vocabularies, we have really been recovering it. In that sense, this new Bible is really the oldest."

Yours sincerely,
REV. ERNEST NIX.
Lamont, Alberta.

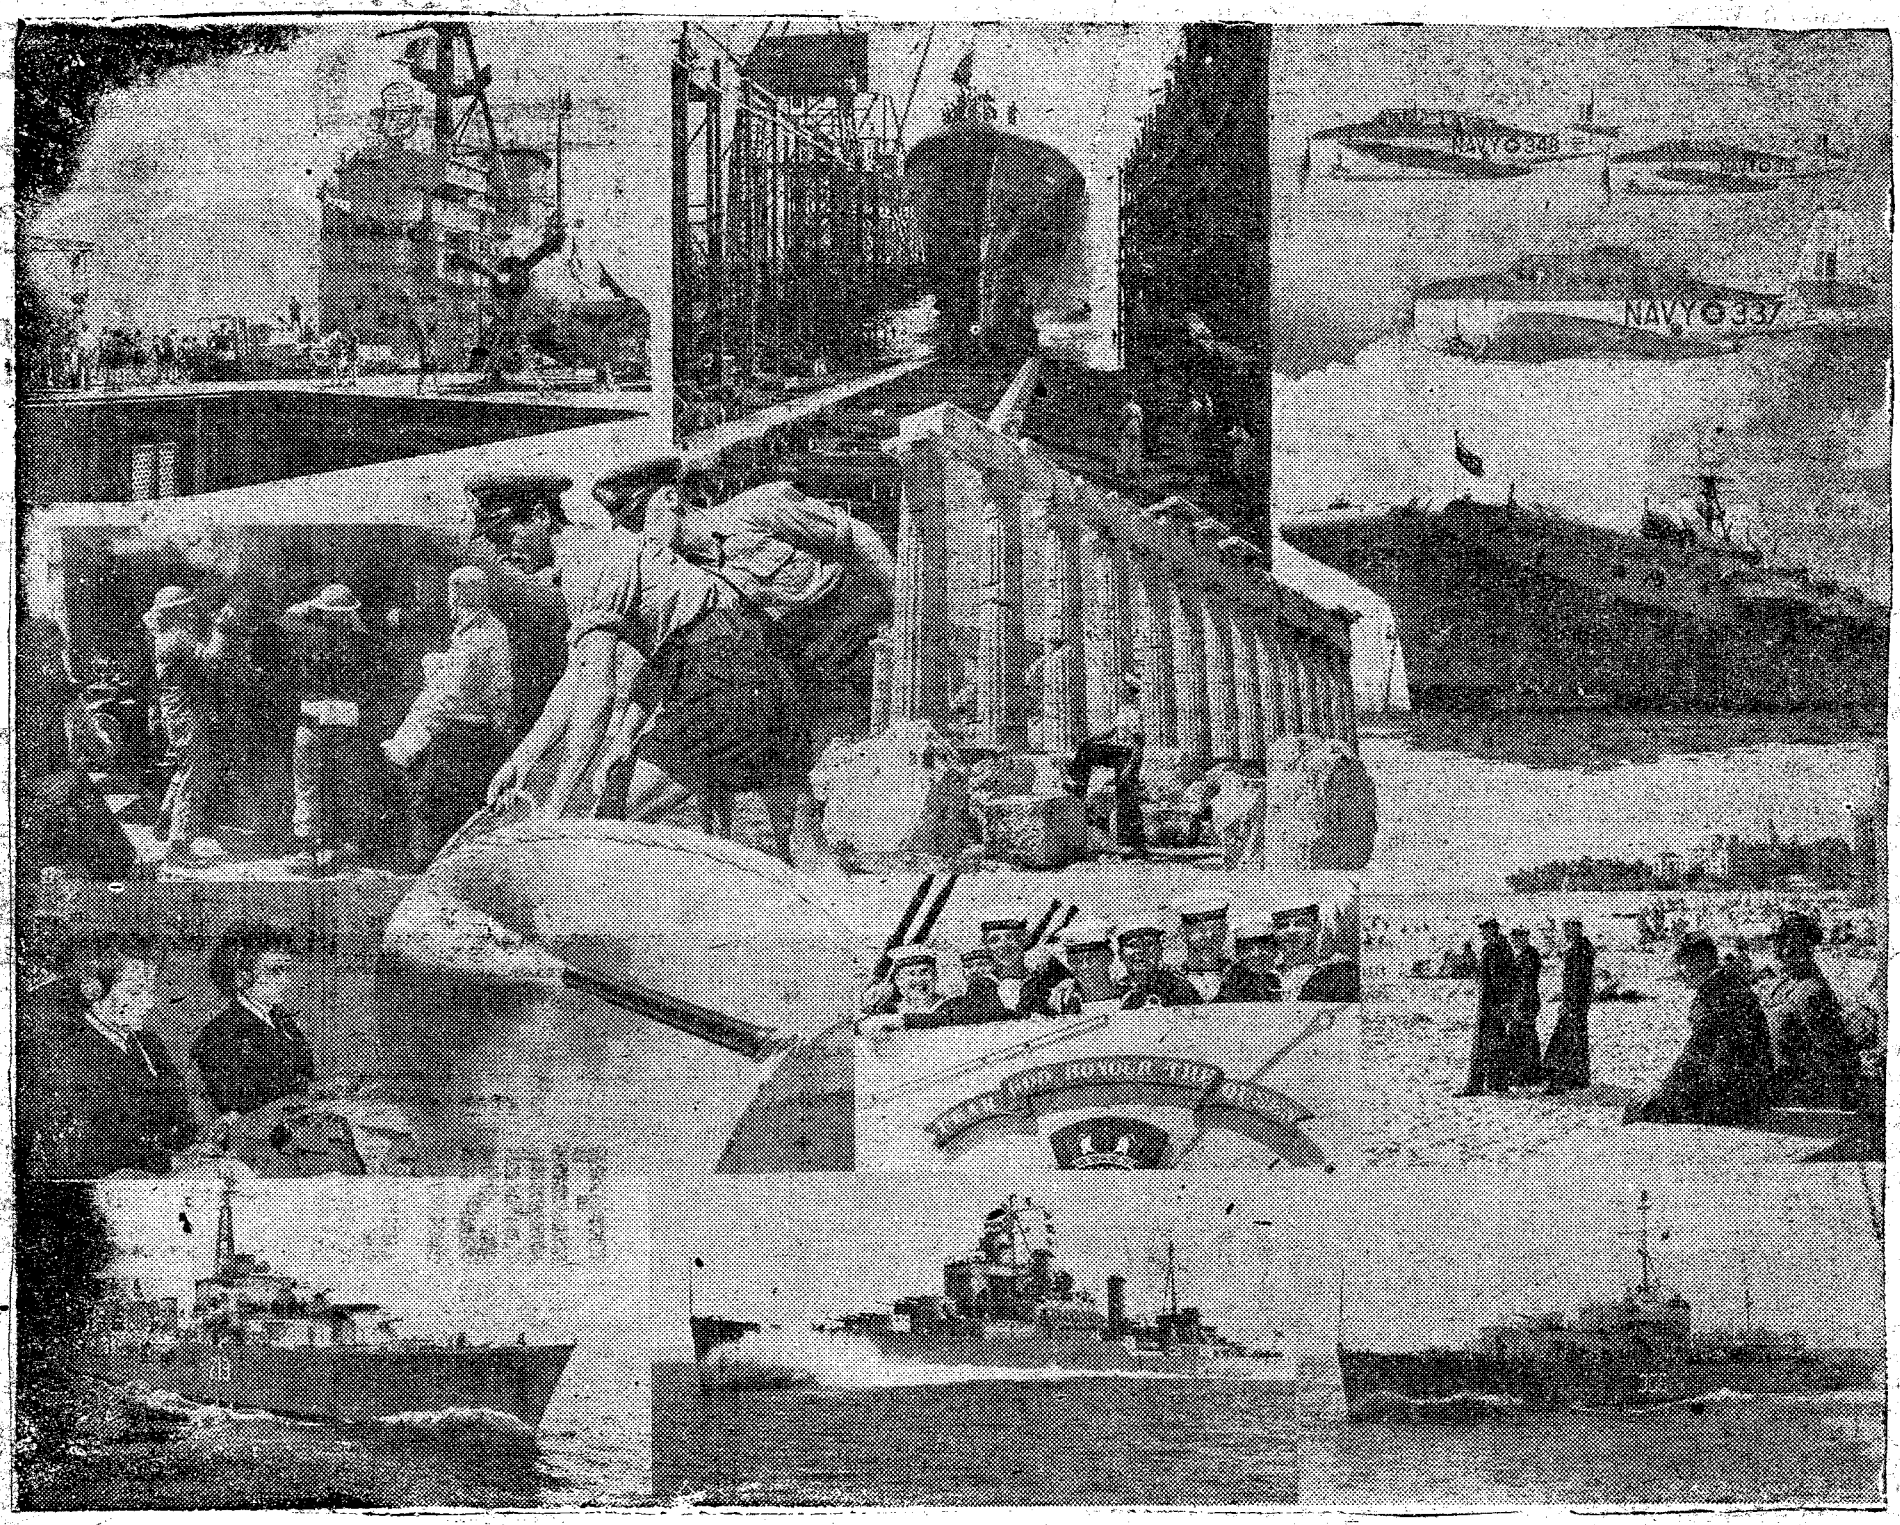
PEACE-TIME EXERCISES, WAR-TIME OPERATIONS TAKE NAVY TO ALL QUARTERS OF THE GLOBE



HERE IS A SAMPLER of life in the Royal Canadian Navy. Last year saw Canadian destroyers continue their service in the Korean war theatre and the integration of the RCN with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's naval set-up. From left to right are shown—Top row: HMCS Magnificent steaming past the smoking crater of Stromboli during exercises with the Royal Navy in the Mediterranean; the launching of a new destroyer escort, HMCS Skeena, at North Vancouver; three anti-submarine Avengers in flight over the Magnificent—aircraft such as these scored notable success in the NATO exercises Mainbrace and Emigrant. Second row: A Canadian destroyer's gun crew in action off the coast of Korea; University Naval Training Division cadets stow wire rope as their ship leaves Gbraltar during a summer training cruise; a sailor from the Magnificent views "the glory that was Greece" during a visit to Athens. Third row: Communications branch Wrens at their typewriters—nearly 200 Wrens are on full-time service with the Navy; a Canadian destroyers's gun blasts at a North Korean target; cheerful sailors on board HMCS Ontario on a visit to Seattle; crew members of HMCS Athabaskan, on their way to Korea, enjoy a brief respite in Hawaii. Bottom row: Three typical warships of the Royal Canadian Navy, HMCS Athabaskan (Tribal class destroyer); HMCS Quebec (8,500-ton training cruiser) and HMCS Swansea (frigate). —National Defence Photo.

ANNOUNCING

BUICK'S GREATEST CARS IN 50 GREAT YEARS

HERE you see pictured the Golden Anniversary Buicks—engineered, styled, powered and bodied to be fully worthy of their paragon role in this fiftieth year of Buick building.

A quick listing of simple facts will reveal just cause for celebration. Let's start off with the new 1953 Buick Custom.

★ It has a newly-designed Fireball Straight-8 Engine.
The importantly stepped-up Fireball Straight-8 actually gives the 1953 Custom with Dynaflow even better performance than the 1952 Roadmaster. And this brilliant new performance is achieved with amazing economy and without the need for premium fuels.

★ It has Fireball Horsepower.
Engine horsepower per pound has been increased to 130 on Dynaflow-equipped models and 125 on cars equipped with Synchro-mesh transmission for more brilliant performance.

★ It has a compression ratio of 7.6 to 1.
New combustion chamber raises compression to 7.6 to 1 with Dynaflow, shortens flame travel for greater power and fuel efficiency.

★ It has a new *Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Drive.
Now adds far swifter, quieter, more efficient getaway to infinite smoothness at all speed ranges.

★ It has GM Power Steering.
This year the Buick Custom with Dynaflow Drive offers you the wondrous handling ease of GM Power Steering.

★ It has a still finer ride.
The softest, steadiest, most buoyantly level ride that Buick's advanced engineering has yet produced.

Optional at extra cost.*

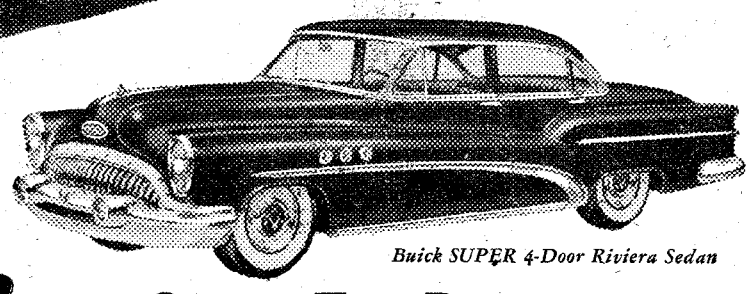
A General Motors Value



Buick SUPER 4-Door Riviera Sedan

WORLD'S NEWEST V8 POWERS The Super-The Roadmaster

Yes, there's wonderful news about the 1953 Buick SUPERS and ROADMASTERS, too. For instance, they're powered by a completely new V-8 engine with one of the highest compression ratios in the industry. It develops 188 horsepower for Roadmaster, 170 for the Dynaflow-equipped Super, and it's so compact that a new, more manoeuvrable chassis has been built around it!

But no listing of facts and features can do justice to the phenomenal Golden Anniversary Buicks. No words can really tell you the beauty you see, the comfort you feel, the excitement you experience when you make first-hand acquaintance with these big, beautiful, bounteous Buick Customs and Supers and Roadmasters for '53.

So come in and see for yourself that these are, in simple truth, Buick's greatest cars in 50 great years!

No Great Price Decline Expected, Says Federal Agriculture Depart. Official

Says cattle prices may rise after March 1st —should not rush to sell cattle now!

EDMONTON — J. H. Tremblay, Senior Technical Officer for Western Canada of the Canadian Department of Agriculture has issued a warning to farmers who have cattle to sell before March 1st. On that date the U.S. embargo is to be lifted on the importation of Canadian cattle and Mr. Tremblay says that farmers may get better prices for live cattle by waiting until then before making deliveries to packing houses.

At least, Mr. Tremblay says there is no reason to fear a great drop in price when the U.S. embargo is lifted. In a statement issued last week, he gives the Department's view of the situation as it is likely to affect the Canadian cattlemen. Following is the complete statement:

It would appear that a systematic campaign is underway to depress the cattle market and cause concern amongst the producers, in an effort to induce them to ship more cattle at the most inappropriate time and force the prices down. There is certainly no justification whatsoever for such action at the present time.

According to latest quotations available, the price of Good to Choice steers and yearlings, are up to $24.50 at St. Paul, Minneapolis, and $25.50, Chicago. By deducting normal charges per hundred weight from Edmonton to St. Paul for transportation—$1.26, (b) Duty $1.50, (c) Shrinkage 75c, (d) Feed in transit 25c and handling charges 50c, or a total of $4.26, there still remains a net price of $20.24 per hundred weight at St. Paul and $21.24 at Chicago. And this does not take into account the top steers which are bringing as high as $29.00 per cwt. at Chicago.

At the present time, certain Edmonton packers are offering $18.50 for very top steers through their local buying stations, which is about two cents a pound less than what they would bring on the U.S. market.

It is difficult to say what the prices will be on March 1 when the embargo is lifted, but there is every reason to believe that there will be very little difference with the present prices, and the feeder has everything to gain by holding back the shipping of his fat stock until after that date. It should also be kept in mind that the best guarantee to the seller is still to ship through the public stockyards.

Bible By Balloon

The International Council of Christian Churches (fundamentalist rival of the World Council of Churches) decided on an all-out effort to destroy the prophets of atheism behind the Iron Curtain. Their vehicle: balloons. Small balloons will be set adrift in Europe by council workers, to be carried into Sovietland on the west winds. A waterproof envelope will be attached to each balloon, containing a portion of the Scriptures or an entire Bible. Declared the council: "The geartest single weapon in the hands of freedom-loving people in their struggle with expanding Communism is the Bible."

Amen

Popular English hymns frequently prove disconcerting after the translator has done his worst. A missionary once set a Hindu student to render "Rock of Ages" into the native dialect. The literal meaning of the Hindu's rendering was "Very old stone, split for my benefit. Let me absent myself under one of your fragments."

LEO BABOWAL.
Coolidge, Alta.

I was to my son's place one day and while having dinner he was telling about the poor people in Europe, saying there were many hungry kiddies that never have enough to eat. His five-year-old daughter said, "Daddy, let's go over to Europe." She hesitated, then said, "Daddy, if we go to Europe I would take a lunch along and give to the hungry kiddies."

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Who Cares?

Sergeant (to raw recruit)—What is the difference between a time and a percussion shell?

Raw Recruit — That's what I say, who cares?

And Used So Little

"You know women's minds are cleaner than men's."

"They should be, they're changed more often."

Quite Clear

British Captain—Well, Private Smith, what did you have for dinner?

Private—"Taters," sir.

Captain (to sergeant) — What does he mean by "Taters," sergeant?

Sergeant—It's only his ignorance, sir. He means "spuds."

What?

Wife—I went to cooking school before I got married.

Chief—What did you do there, play bridge?

Fortunes of Fame

It was the day of the big cricket match. The famous batsman arrived with full escort of fans. One sprightly urchin dashed up to the hero and presented an autograph album and pencil. "Let's 'ave yer nime here, will yer?" and he departed with the prize scrawl.

The game went opposite to expectations, the hero was a thorough muff, the favorites lost. As the players finished and the hero filed out of the dressing room, the urchin piped up from the crowd: "Hi there! Got an eraser?"

Ah, But the Flavor!

"Your husband gets a lot of sentiment out of his pipe, doesn't he?"

"Indeed he does. It's perfectly disgusting to see him clean it."

Neighborly

1st Neighbor — How did that naughty little boy of yours get hurt?

2nd Ditto—That good little boy of yours hit him with a brick."

Try a Sextant

Golfer (far off in the rough)—"Say, caddy, why do you keep looking at your watch?"

Caddy—"It isn't a watch, sir; it's a compass."

Can't Fire the Cook

Woman—"Does your husband kick about the meals?"

Other Bridge Player (smiling)—"No, what he kicks about is having to get them."

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

I am eighteen years old, and I still go to school. I am taking my eleventh year. I don't mind school much, but don't intend to get more than my high school diploma. I have trouble in getting just the right man, not exceptionally for myself but for my parents. I am a French girl and my parents object to my going out with any other boy not of my nationality. Really I mostly always go for one which is not my nationality. My parents object enough that they will not let me go with them.

Please tell me what to do. I love my parents very much and would not want to cause them any sorrow. I am also quite a shy character when not familiar with a person. I am also a bit crowd feared, always thinking that what I might say will not be right, or that I don't use good language.

Thank you very much, and I am waiting for an answer soon. I think you are doing wonderful work. Yours sincerely,

SUSAN.

Answer:

Your problem is typical of thousands of others. You have reached the age now where you should be allowed to make your own decisions as to the company you keep, even though you still go to school. Yet your parents don't seem to realize that you're grown up with a mind of your own and a right to decide your own future.

I suggest, though, that you wait until you complete your present school term and then make it known that you'll either go to the city to get a job or to continue your education. Your shyness and feeling of social inadequacy will soon be overcome by mixing with other people. Regardless of nationality background, we are now all Canadians, but in seeking male companionship you should be careful to choose a boy friend who has your religious beliefs.

Your letter is very well written and I am certain you have no cause for a feeling of inferiority.

LOUISA.

$1 for Favorite RECIPE

Cornflake Kisses

½ cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1¼ cups flour, 1 tsp. baking powder, ½ tsp. salt, 1 cup finely chopped dates, 2 cups cornflakes.

Method—Mix butter, sugar and egg in mixing bowl and beat until light and fluffy. Then put all at once the flour, baking powder, salt and chopped dates and mix thoroughly. Lastly, add 1 cup of cornflakes. Roll balls size of a walnut and roll in remainder of cornflake crumbs, put on greased cookie pan and flatten with a fork. Bake in a 350 deg. oven for 12 to 15 minutes or until light brown.

News Oddities

Light-Fingered

HOUSTON, TEX. — Stealing accessories from automobiles took a new twist here. Naval Lt. M. L. Mooney reported someone stole his dome light.

Romance Language

TOKYO — Kyodo News Agency reports the private detective business has doubled. As usual, a lot of the clients went to check up on spouses, or possible future spouses. One youth asked a check on his financee's background to see if she had been running around with U.S. soldiers. He thought she spoke English too well.

U.S. and the U.N.

The United States is still providing the largest combat manpower contributions to the United Nations Korean war effort, although South Korea has more men in uniform than all other United Nations participants combined. While the exact strength is not known, an estimated 400,000 South Koreans are in uniform while about 300,000 Americans are fighting or directly engaged in support of the fighting.

Oil Wells

The nation's oil industry sank 46,000 new wells in 1952, according to an industry report. A deep exploration well costs an average of $1,000,000, although there is only 1 chance in 16 that it will find even a small oil reservoir. Chances of finding a medium field of oil capable of supplying the nation for a week, are only 1 in 330

GI Survival Odds

After a tour of Korea, Japan and Okinawa, Maj.-Gen. George E. Armstrong, the Army's top surgeon, declared that soldiers in Korea "have a better chance of not being wounded — or of living if wounded" than fighters in any other comparable conflict. New treatments for the wounded are being used and the new armored vest protects the fighting men.

Foreign Aid

The amount of foreign aid the House will approve will depend on the report of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Mutual Security Administrator Harold E. Stassen on Europe's efforts at self-help, according to Robert B. Chiperfield, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives.

Angry Burglars

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—After battering open a safe in a factory office, only to find it empty, angry burglars blew their tops. They left a note, reading, "Why didn't you leave some money in this thing?" In revenge, they set fire to some sawdust in the boiler room. Firemen found the note on top of the safe.

Poor Man Strikes Riches

Albuquerque, N. M. — Charlie Steen, 33-year-old geologist who found a $1,000,000 vein of uranium in southeastern Utah last July, admits he owed $200 for groceries the day he struck it rich. Steen says that while they haven't even touched the top-grade supply yet, they are shipping out from 30 to 40 tons of ore a day, valued at about $800 a ton.
